The Starter Round

A futuristic game lobby with a central character and player avatars. The background is a vibrant, neon-lit cityscape with blue and purple hues. In the center, a large, glowing, purple-skinned character with white hair and green eyes stands with arms outstretched. Below the character, six player avatars are displayed on a dark surface. Each avatar is a small, glowing, purple creature with a unique design. The avatars are labeled with names and scores: Lamia (0), Alev (0), Laura (0), Hanna (0), Ian (0), and Isaac (0). The names are written in a stylized font below each avatar. At the bottom of the screen, a dark banner contains the text: "We'll start off nice and easy with multiple choice."

If you enjoy playing a game of trivia with friends or family and you all have a smartphone at hand then you really can't go wrong with It's Quiz Time... In fact, it's really quite a good game! The overall visual look of it is great and it has this really pleasing visual presentation that makes it feel like an actual gameshow of sorts. There is also the AI host who uses some form of text to speech to engage players and will continually throw shade at your oldest player; it's just all done really well within the confines and limitations you would expect for a party game like this! There are plenty of different segments that are used throughout the rounds and they really do vary up the gameplay and you will have your favourite segments. In all honesty there isn't really a quiz game like this on Steam (to my knowledge) and to be honest I feel like this game gets a much harsher reception than it deserves... Admittedly sometimes the questions can be a little bit generic or outright obscure and the game will often take question themes and run with them for example fastest animal between said animals, or tallest etc. But overall this is a fun game to play with friends and family in a living room setting (even the older people will get involved)! I mean, you need to find some games to make a Steam Link worth while!. Very well done. Love the idea of updates to keep it current & fresh.

Definitely needs an online multiplayer please like Buzz! had. Please!

Otherwise, great job..... wanted something different to a board game, something new. i found it. i don't care about other players and streaming etc, as i just wanted it for a few of the family, we logged in (in the same room quiz) it kicked off lol. brilliant fun. Very well done. Love the idea of updates to keep it current & fresh. Definitely needs an online multiplayer please like Buzz! had. Please!

Thank you.. I love Jackbox style phone party games... this isn't my favorite. Dull rounds that go on for way too long and tasks that aren't explained enough leaving your group scratching their heads. On the plus side, the host is cute for the first few minutes (getting more sarcastic and obnoxious as the game progresses) and the game visually is pleasing at first glance. But, the graphics get repetitive once you see the same backdrops over and over.

The questions themselves aren't horrible and it's nice that they give you questions based on your birthday, but a majority of the questions feel less suited for a trivia game and more for doing homework.

Didn't keep my parties attention including mine.. Fantastic party game .. Love it.. Bought before the holidays, as I was looking for some party games to play with family and friends. For the most part the game has been an absolute blast and would recommend to those who are after a Buzz like game for PC.

There has been the occasional technical area when playing in larger groups with everyone on the same network, sometimes the app freezes or loses connection, but the majority of games have been hassle free.. This game is an absolute piece of ♥♥♥♥♥ing♥♥♥♥♥ don't spend any money on it. Couldn't even play the bloody ♥♥♥♥♥ing ♥♥♥♥♥♥♥♥♥♥ game. ♥♥♥♥♥.

Thank you.. Fantastic party game .. Love it.. I generally like quiz-based games. This one has plenty of content (as you probably guessed), and it can be pretty challenging, but the narrator has one of those speech-to-text voices, which I found to be fairly annoying. A placeholder voice is fine in an early access title, but not in a full release, in my opinion. I would have preferred a voiceless speech-bubble presentation or something similar (e.g., Nintendo-style) instead of the current presentation.

Would I still recommend this? Yes, but barely. Unless you have to have it right now, I recommend waiting for a discount. You can find similar games for free for most mobile devices.. Every time I play this - whether on my own channel with my viewers, or as a viewer in someone else's channel - I enjoy it. The byplay with the AI host (Salli) is a huge part of what makes this game fun; she speaks with near-perfect inflection (unlike most text-to-speech synthesizers) and responds to a wide variety of situations. "Rosuav, contrary to all expectations, you got that question right." (Ouch!) If you like the idea of pitting your wits against an AI that learned from the GLaDOS school of insults, you will LOVE this game.

Oh, and did you know Salli speaks multiple languages? I've no idea how many, and maybe she's not as fluent in all of them, but you can challenge yourself against a German quizmaster, or a Dutch one, or several others besides.
